

Graduate Supports: Career and Writing

Student Success
Centre, Student Affairs and School of Graduate Studies

Gisela Oliveira, Associate Director, Careers, Mobility and International Student Success

Sean Beaudette, Associate Director, Outreach, Transition and Academic Success

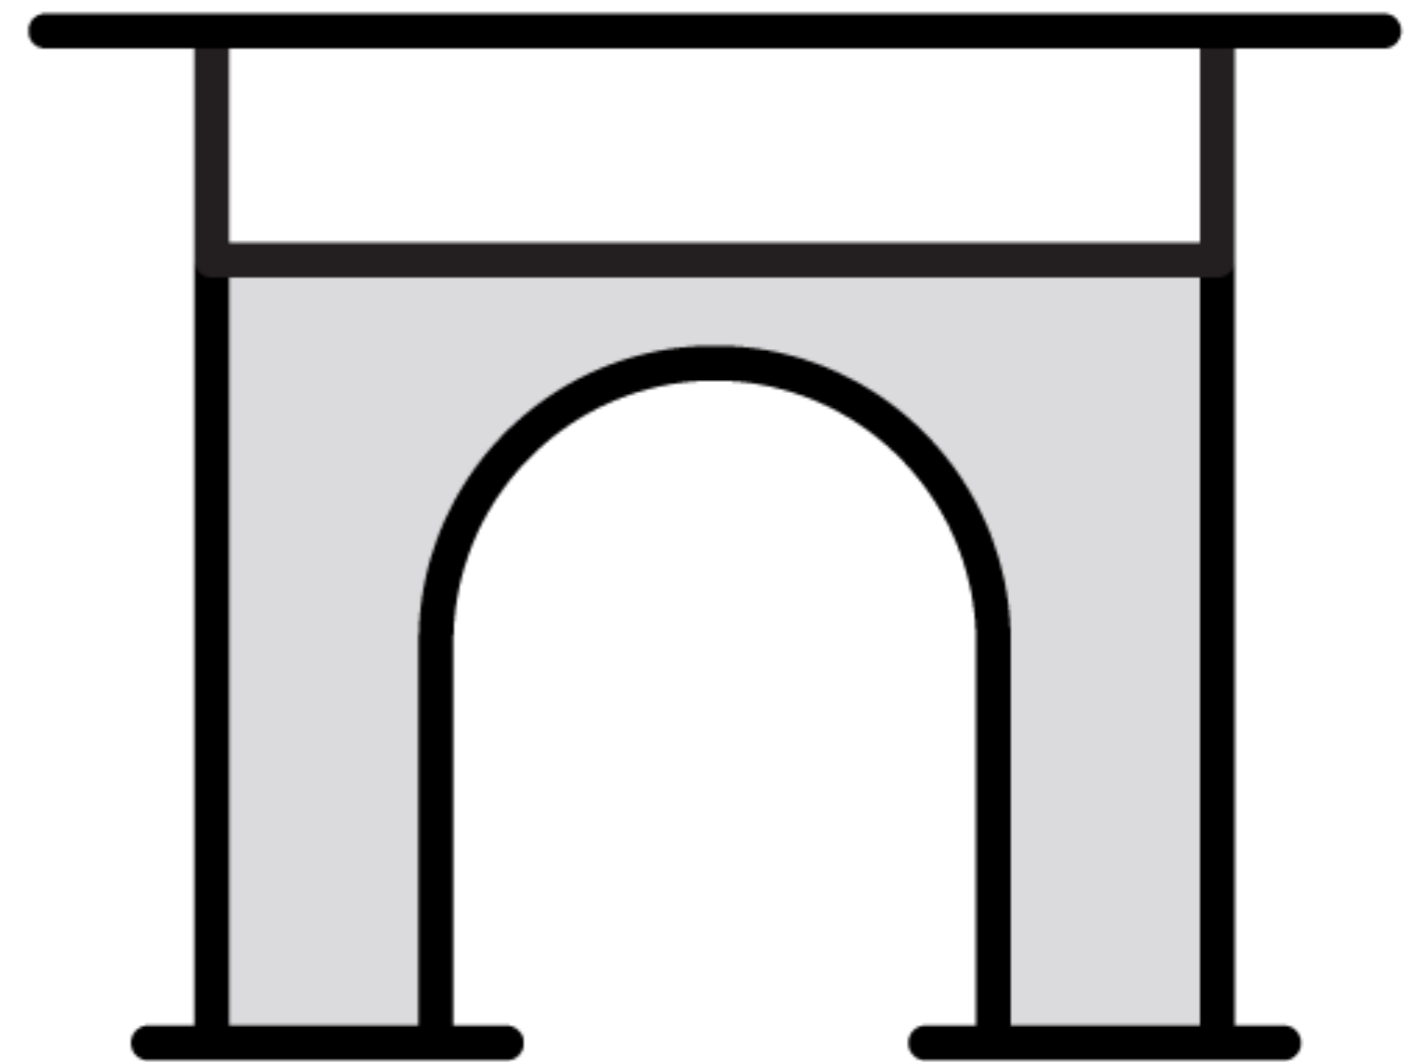

May 7, 2024

Initiative

Graduate Supports: Career and Writing

- Tailored writing and career counselling support and resources for graduate student success.
- Transitioning from university and into professional and academic ventures requires career development, a lifelong skill.
- Available to graduate students across all Faculties and Departments.

Outcomes

Graduate Supports: Career and Writing

Expanded the scope of the project to holistically support graduate student success.

Empowering graduate students with writing and communication expectations, including implementing feedback.

Meeting students where they are in their career development journey, supporting employment readiness, career exploration and industry connections.

1,738

Total appointments
(1,299 careers and 439 writing)

Lessons learned, best practices

Graduate Supports: Career and Writing

Leverage existing infrastructure to advance services rapidly.

Be flexible in the approach, as student needs are dynamic.

Faculty and Departmental champions are essential to bridging the gap.

